

VOJISLAV ŠEŠELJ:

Ladies and gentlemen, I am exercising my right to reply in order to get rid of another illusion, even from this podium: the illusion about the alleged loyal behaviour of members of the Croatian national minority in Serbia.

First of all, your party is not loyal to the state of Serbia because your party's representatives recently attended a conference in Balaton. Did you support TUEMAN, did you help transfer Ustashas across the Danube, through the territory of Bačka, into Hungary? Who knows what else you have been doing, the lists are long.

Let me reiterate that we are going to expel the Croats, exercising the same right that TUEMAN has exercised to expel the Serbs. You can do your research in Zagreb and find out what right it was, since you have not yet made a single protest against TUEMAN's crimes, against the expulsion of Serbs and everything else that is happening in Ustasha Croatia, primarily genocide against the Serbian people. We are not going to resort to genocidal activities because it is not in the blood of the Serbs. We are not going to start killing you, of course. We are simply going to pack you into trucks and trains, and let you get on with it in Zagreb. You will even be given the addresses of abandoned Serbian homes, houses and flats, and you can move into those homes, they are still furnished and everything. And from here, you can take with you whatever you please, whatever you need.

Vojislav ŠEŠELJ:

I really have to make another reply. I promise it will be the last one, concerning this item on the agenda. The person who made the previous reply was reacting to a part of my speech, but it is precisely in this way, which I pleaded for - if the Republic of Serbian Krajina compiles a register of citizenship and issues identity cards to all refugees, all the Serbs who come from the former Croatia and the Slovenian federal unit - that the Serbian
